

4.1 What are online classes

Online classes are delivered through digital platforms instead of traditional, in-person classrooms. RIT provides classes in both formats for students who attend classes on its Dubai campus to participate in classes offered by its main campus in New York or other RIT locations. They can be either synchronous (live video at required times) or asynchronous (self-paced with recorded sessions and flexible deadlines). All course materials, assignments, discussions, and evaluations are done through MyCourses, RIT's online learning management system.

4.2 How to Enroll in Online Classes

Enrolling in online classes follows a similar process to regular course enrollment but requires additional filtering steps to find courses offered in online formats. Follow these steps carefully:

1. Navigate to the RIT Student Information System (SIS) by searching "RIT SIS" in your browser and logging in with your credentials.
2. Click on Student Information System under the "Students" table.
3. Select Enroll & Search from the menu.
4. On the left-hand side, click Class Search and Enroll.
5. Click on Additional Ways to Search to access advanced filtering options.
6. A detailed search form will appear where you can input specific course criteria, including subject, course number, and term.

7. After entering your search criteria, a filtering panel will appear on the left side of the screen. This panel allows you to refine your search further.

8. Scroll down to Instruction Mode in the filtering panel and select Online Synchronous (live online sessions) or Asynchronous (self-paced online courses) depending on your preference.

9. Once you've found the online courses you want to take, add them to your shopping cart and proceed with enrollment.

Important Note on Enrollment Dates

Online classes offered through RIT's main campus do not have the same enrollment dates as Dubai campus courses. Enrollment windows for online classes are announced separately via email. Monitor your RIT email regularly to ensure you don't miss the enrollment period for online courses.

4.3 Why online classes

1. Access to specific classes - Enroll in specific classes that are not available in RIT Dubai, including specialty classes that can only be taken at the main campus of RIT.
2. Scheduling Flexibility - Asynchronous classes allow students to complete their assignments when they choose; therefore, it is much easier to work around other commitments such as internships.
3. Fulfilling Requirements Efficiently - Students can fulfill general education, perspective or elective requirements without scheduling conflicts.

4. Learn at Your Own Pace - Students can review specific materials or advance quickly through concepts with self-paced online classes.
